LONE VOYAGER TO BE CLUB SPEAKER

At its next dinner meeting, to be held at the Christian church parlors, Tuesday evening, April 18, the Torrance N. B. P. W. club will have the privilege of listening to a man who astounded the world last year with his initiative and daring in undertaking an 8000-mile trip from Australia to the United States alone in an 18-foot skiff.

Fred Rebell, an Englishman, born in Latvia, a resident of Australia for a number of years, sailed from Sydney, New South Wales, on New Year's eve, 1931. He landed in San Pedro on January 7, 1933, after a year and several days of travel across the Pacific ocean. Rebell varied the monotony of the trip by stopping here and there to visit numerous islands of the South Seas, where his appearance out of the blue in his tiny craft created no less astonishment than it did in this country.

The club secured Mr. Rebell as a speaker through the good offices of Miss Beatrice Hughes, club secretary, who was the first person to interview Mr. Rebell when he landed at San Pedro last January.

Mr. Rebell will tell the story of his long jaunt, which was filled with adventure and fraught with peril every mile of the way. His ingenious arrangements for cooking, sleeping, and navigating will be described, and the wonders of the deep which he encountered on the way will form a no less interesting part of his narrative.

By an ironic quirk of fate, the frail skiff in which many seafarers would hesitate to trust themselves for a trip to Catalina but which carried Rebell over 8000 miles of turbulent water in safety, was wrecked in San Pedro harbor during a "santa ana" which blew up in less than a week after his arrival here.

Musical numbers to complete the program which this month is sponsored by the transportation and publicity committees, will be given by Miss Cornelia Hughes and Miss Ruth Barstow in saxophone and piano duo, and Tom Hart, of Long Beach, banjo soloist.
